A WORK OF SEVENTY YEARS.

Female Bible Society of This City Has an Anniversary To-Morrow.

To-morow is the twenty-third anniversary of the organization of the Female Bible Sosociety in 1839, and at that time was the gation. If this is in favor of the city it will result of systematic Bible distribution, which had been begun in 1825. In 1871 Mr. Ingram Fletcher gave a lot valued at $2,000 to the society, and on account of the gift the society became incorporated and the distribution of Bibles throughout the city was through a more systematic organization. Mrs. Margaret Given was the first president, in 1839, and continued in the same office for thirty-one years. When the society became incorporated Mrs. Jane C. Graydon was elected president. Mrs. F. S. Newcomer was the corresponding secretary. and she held the office for eighteen years. Mrs. C. W. Brouse became its treasurer in 1871, and looked after the moneys till her death in 1892, when her daughter, Miss Mary Brouse was elected to fill the vacancy. Miss Julia Bassett was the first secretary under the new organization, and at present is filling the office in the absence Mrs. G. A. Wells, who is in Texas. Mrs. John Wilkins had the depository for many years, and now it is still in the family, for the Bibles are stored with Mrs. W. Brouse and Mrs. Charles Lesh, Mrs. Lesh being the grandlaughter of Mrs. Wil-kins. Miss Eliza Hendricks was the society's president for eight years, and is now the first vice president. The society has always been a small one, though it has always desired that each cheach shall have at least two representatives, in order that the needs of all the parishes in the city might be known to the society. For the past two or three years the work of the society has been to supply the public institutions with Bibles. The original officers of the society were: President, Mrs. Jane C. Graydon: vice presdent. Mrs. Eleanor Wilkins; treasurer, Mrs. Caroline Brouse; secretary, Miss Julia Rassett, and the members were Mrs. Amanda. Bassett, Mrs. M. M. Todd, Mrs. Saran E. Newcomer, Mrs. Sophia C. Ray, Mrs. Eliza R. Eckert, Mrs. Sarah Holliday, Mrs. Eliza New, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Woodburn Mrs. Helen Rockwood, Mrs. Sarah Smith, Mrs. Jane Trueblood, Mrs. Olivia Osgood, Mrs. John Ohr and Mrs. Sarah White.

POSTPONED UNTIL TO-NIGHT.

The West Indianapolis Council Differs as to Ward Boundaries.

The West Indianapolis Council met last night to divide the city into wards, but, owing to a difference of opinion as to the boundaries, the Council adjourned to meet to-night. The boundaries that will probably be accepted are as follows:

First Ward-Territory north and west of the Kentucky-avenue bridge, and north and | have cost. He said the cost of asphalt as | yet received a reply from that official. west of a line through the center of River avenue as far as Woodburn avenue, following the center of Woodburn avenue to the west boundary line of the town. Second Ward-Territory west of the center of Reisner street and south of the center of Woodburn avenue (if extended.) Third Ward-Territory south and east of the Kentucky-avenue bridge and of a line in the center of River avenue to Woodburn avenue, and in Woodburn avenue to Reisner street, and all territory east of Reisner

THE CITY'S FINANCES

What Republican Control Is Doing for Indianapolis.

Revenues Largely Increased-Brick for South Meridian Street-Alabama-Street Remonstrants Heard.

That Democracy is a tax was never so clearly demonstrated as in a comparison between the present administration of city affairs and the administration under four A small lot of 4-button Kid Gloves in new | years of Democratic misrule. It will be some time before the city has fully recovered from the effects of four years of Demccratic supremacy, but already the relief can be seen in the distance. The present administration was left a legacy of indebtedness and maturing bonds to meet which no effort had been made by its predecessor, and the result, had the Democracy continued in power, can only be imagined, if the imagination is capable of the task. The revenues have been materially acreased by the vehicle and brewery tax. Both of these measures were broached during the preceding administration, which went so far as to make a weak attempt to power before it took up these measures and the saloon license fee ordinance. By the city | germs. charter the city has jurisdiction over saloons for a distance of two miles from the city limits, except in incorporated towns or cities. Controller Trusler has started after the North Indianapolis saloons, and will compel them to pay the city a license of $250 per annum. This suburb is not incorporated, and the saloons there are liable to the license fce, being within the two-mile limit. There are at least three saloons in this suburb, and all of them will be compelled to pay.

Controller Trusler was asked yesterday | Seventh street. afternoon when the city would begin to consider the estimate for the tax levy for next year. He said it would not be considered before June or July, and the rate would depend upon the estimates of the de-partments as to the funds needed for the various departments of the government. He said it would be impossible to state at this time what the levy would be. "What is the estimate of the city's por-tion of the April installment of taxes?"

"It is $371,285.75." "How much of that amount will be required for the payment of outstanding temporary loans?"

"The payment of temporary loans will require $150,000."

Will the city have to borrow money with which to meet its running expenses between the present time and the receipt of the 'No. The funds at hand will be ample to meet current expenses without making The question of a sinking fund with which to liquidate the bonded indebtedness which to liquidate the bonded indebtedness of the city has been receiving the attention of the city authorities. The unwise policy of carrying a large bonded indebtedness at a high rate of interest will no longer be pursued. Controller Trusler and Chairman Rauh, of the finance committee, have been considering plans for providing for a sinking fund to be utilized in the redemption of the bonds that have been and are to be required when they become due. The confunded when they become due. The controller was asked if he contemplated recommending the levy of a special tax for sinking fund purposes. He said he had not thought much of this. Before a tax could be levied to provide for a sinking fund there would probably have to be special. there would probably have to be special legislation. He thought there were other sources of revenue which could be utilized for the purpose of providing for a sinking fund. There were sources of revenue which the city had a right to draw from which had never been utilized, and he thought it would not be necessary to make a special tax. He was asked if he had ever considered a proposition to use the saving in gered a proposition to use the saving in interest between the 7 and 4 per cent. bonds for sinking fund purposes, and said he had not, because he did not think it was necessary to appropriate money thus saved for that purpose. The amount of this saving, if the city succeeds in refunding the $300,-000 due in July and the $200,000 due next year at 4 per cent. Will be $39,913.50. The other source of revenue to which he al-luded was the power of the city, granted in the charter, to tax corporations. The charter gave the city the right to tax and license the distribution and supply of natural and artificial gas, electricity and water. The franchise of the natural gas company, he said, gave the city the right to tax it 3 cents per foot upon all of its mains. "If this source of revenue was drawn upon," said the Controller, "it would yield the city said the Controller, "it would yield the city at least $100,000 per year, and would of itself be sufficient in time to pay off the city's indebtedness. When a sinking fund is created I would not recommend that it be placed in control of any public officer, but be put in charge of a sinking fund commission. This would do away with the possibility of private speculation in the way of loaning the public money at interest and securing the public money at interest and securing a handsome profit for some individual. The question of taxing the corporations for their privileges was brought up in the Council under the preceding administration but the Democratic majority voted it down, and the large revenues that should have come to the city have gone to the corpora tions. Another phase that is being consid ered in connection with the sinking fund ciety in this city. It was in existence as a the probable outcome of the street-car litiyield a large income that could be applied to a sinking fund for the purpose of relieving the city of its burdensome debt. Controller Trusler says there has been a crease in the expenditures in some quarters, but that the city had been forced, on

A Majority Vote of the Works Board Settles the Matter.

The question of the South Meridian-street improvement was up before the Board of Works vesterday morning. The contractor for the manual training school that is being crected at the corner of Merrill street was before the board and asked that the improvement of the portion of the street lying between Merrill and McCarty streets be delayed for a time, as they have large quantities of building material piled in the street. The board expressed its willingness to delay the improvement of that portion of the street for a time to accommodate the contractor, but the work will be begun in Work will be begun on that portion of the street lying north of South street as soon as possible. There was a difference of opinion in the board as to the kind of Meyer favored brick, while President Wildman favored asphalt. It was decided to pave the street with brick.

ALABAMA-STREET REMONSTRANTS. They Tell the Council Committee Why

They Object to Asphalt. The Council committee on sewers, streets and alleys met in the city clerk's office last night to hear the remonstrants against improving Alabama street with asphalt. The committee gave the remonstrants about two hours and a half of time, and a number of the property owners from the street appeared and urged objections to asphalt | Fish Commissioner to appoint five members streets. Attorney Denny gave figures showing the comparative cost of asphalt and brick streets, and made the statement that the 17.64 miles of asphalt streets in Indianapolis had cost the city $602,256.60 more than the same length of brick streets would to one, while the durability was as one to two. He made use of the argument that in putting down asphalt streets the money was sent abroad, and in brick it was kept at home. He said he did not believe there was any competition in the asphalting, nor did he believe there ever had been any competition, and he did not believe the Board of Public Works could frame rules or specifications that would insure competition in the future. He did not think the appearance of a third bidder in the field. as recently announced, would insure competition, and, if it did, the money went abroad, as it, too, was a foreign corpora-tion, or compelled to purchase its material from a foreign corporation, which amounted to the same thing. He said the pavement was not permanent and the first cost was not all that was to be considered. When it was to be repaired the city would have to purchase its material of foreign corpora-

Dr. Todd next addressed the committee, and said the property owners were compelled to be persistent, because the Board of Public Works was persistent in refusing to grant them their rights. He said the Board of Works had from the start mis-represented the position of the property owners and accused them of being opposed to improvement at all. He denied this and said they only wanted to be permitted to say what sort of an improvement it should be when they were compelled to pay for it. He said North Meridian street was not an example of the kind of pavement they wanted, because it was not red cedar block, such as the Alabama-street property owners wanted. He thought North Delaware street was a fair example, and said that part of Delaware street which had been paved with red cedar blocks was the best street in the city. The Doctor was disposed to criticise the administration somewhat in the Alabama-street paving matter.
Dr. Todd was followed by David Hazzard, who spoke at length against asphalt, and said a member of the Sullivan Board of Public Works had told him that the city never received what it paid for in asphalt contracts; that the work was never done according to specifications. He refused to give the name of the member, but reiter-ated this statement several times. Mr. Mullgan also spoke against asphalt, saying that he did not reside upon Alabama street, but appeared as the representative of a property owner who did. He said asphalt had been abandoned as impractical by St. Louis and Columbus, O. He said the proposition pass both measures, but no material results to pave the street with asphalt had emerged the present administration come into the streets and induced them to petition the works board for that sort of an inpushed both through so as to yield considerable revenue to the city. From the vehicle tax the city has thus far secured $20,732,35, and from the brewery license it has realized $9,000. In this connection will be remembered the strict enforcement of the saloon license fee ordinance. By the city The committee did not intimate what its recommendation to the Council would be, but it is not probable that the question will be settled at the next meeting.

The board awarded to Browder & Shover the contract for paving with brick Chesa-peake street, from Tennessee to Pennsylvania street. The contract price is $2.91 a lineal foot, stratified limestone curb and Portland cement grout filling to be used.

The board took final action in the resoutions for the improvement of Home avenue, from Pennsylvania to Delaware street with asphalt, and for the paving with brick the first alley south of Georgia street, from Illinois to Tennessee street. George C. Pyle complained of the condiion of New Jersey street at the crossing of St. Clair street, He said where the street had been crossed by the water company in laying a large main the trenches had been improperly filled and left a deep rut extending across the street. The Board of Works has passed a resolution for the permanent improvement of the street. They ordered the water company to put to street in proper condition.

Hereafter the regular police drills will be held in Tomlinson Hall instead of in the upper floor of the courthouse. The drills are to be held twice a week instead of once. The Board of Works yesterday notified custodian Wheat that Superintendent Powell was to have the use of the hall for one hour and a half during two afternoons in each week, provided others who had paid for the use of it did not claim it.

C. L. Carlin has asked for the removal of a stand pipe in Ninth street, and his petition was referred to Inspector Scholl to report as to whether the request for the removal should be granted. C. F. Sayles, agent for the property, was notified to repair the sidewalk in front of 183 Indiana avenue within twenty-four hours. The board said complaint had been received at four different times about the

that the water company had increased hits rates for lawn sprinkling, and that it had failed to make the reduction of 6 cents a lineal foot in cases where the street was sprinkled under contract with the city sprinklers. Yesterday the board addressed a communication to the company calling its attention to these complaints. The Bill Sent to Slinkard. Membership Cards for the Association-Black Bass and Trout Asked For.

The Indiana Fish and Game Protective Association met in the Circuit Court room last night. A suggestion was made that, to insure secrecy, the association adopt a password and grip to be required from members before they would be admitted to the meetings of the organization. This was naterial to be used. Messrs. Kramer and | finally dropped, but it was decided to issue to each member a membership card with his name signed upon it by himself. The secretary was instructed to order five hundred membership cards. A communication was received from New Albany complimenting the association upon the work already accomplished by it in the way of protecting fish and game, and containing the information that the Wabash river, especially in the vicinity of New Albany, was being continually dynamited and seined. The association decided to ask the of the association as deputy fish commissioners, in order to increase their powers in the efforts to protect the fish. The Mayor's Civil Service Board at Last Meets and Organizes.

Herrick, a Democrat, Continues to Ge $300 a Year More Than the Ordinance Allows.

At about 10 o'clock last night the city THE MINE AND A PARTY OF THE PAR service, and it is now committed to it. 'The rules were declared to be in force about that time last night by the Board of Examiners appointed by the Mayor, and today Indianapolis is a civil-service city. The board took extraordinary precaution to insure absolute secrecy. It met in the Mayor's office, and even the janitors were driven from the outer office lest some word spoken might fall upon their ears and an inkling of what was transpiring within be conveyed to them. After the janitors had been excluded the outer door was locked and barred and the Board of Examiners talked in subdued tones.

Richard Herrick, clerk to the Board of Public Safety, was elected secretary of the Board of Examiners. He is to serve without pay. The secretary of the Board of Examiners receives no alary, but the clerk to the Board of Safety receives $200 per annum more than the salary fixed by ordinance. The city would save $300 year by putting a capable Republican in the position. Herrick says his services to the Board of Examiners are given as an eleemosynary offering. The board adopted a form of blanks to be used by applicants for positions. The forms are similar to those in use in other cities which are alleged to be under civilservice rules. They also provided for a register for persons seeking employment as laborers. Hereafter when any person desires to procure employment from the city as a laborer he will be compelled to secure a blank application upon which he must secure the indorsement of at least two cities which are alleged to be under civila blank application upon which he must secure the indorsement of at least two citizens. This blank is filed with the secretary of the Board of Examiners, and the applicant is registered in a book kept for that purpose. Each applicant is numbered as he files his application. The register shows the name, age and residence of the applicant, number of persons dependent upon him for support, his previous of ct.pation, number of years he has resided in the city, whether he is an ex-soldier or not, a personal description, the date of last employment and date of discharge. For other branches of the service the applicant is compelled to file a blank application containing all the information the Board of Examiners desire concerning him:

In the case of clerks the application must be filled out with ink in the nandwriting of the applicant; in the case of janitors it may be filled out by another than the applicant. The blank shows the nature of employment desired, name, age and residence of the applicant; how long he has been a resident of the city, place of birth, whether a citizen of the United States, whether he uses intoxicants to excess, whether convicted of crime, condition of health, whether he has any physical incapacities and the nature of them, if any; occupation for preceding five years, names of employers, whether he has even been in the army or navy, or in the employment of the United States in any capacity, in what school or schools he was elucated with the names and location and length of course; special qualifications, such as bookkeeping, stenography, etc., for the position sought. Then comes the certificate of the applicant that he has answered the questions truly, and then the vouchers of not less than five citizens. The applicant is not required to make affidavit to the truthfulness of his answers. The forms of blanks will be sent to the printer immediately, and the blanks will be ready in a few days. The board will meet to examine applicants as soon as there are applications for them to select from. City Engineer Brown is much in need of two or three men, and may appoint some temporarily. canding the next meeting of the Board of

MEMORIAL DAY ARRANGEMENTS.

Officers and Subcommittees Announced -Gen. Harrison Unable to Be Here.

At the meeting of the general Memorial day committee, last night, at No. 48 North Delaware street, the list of officers and subcommittees was announced as follows: Chairman, Ed G. Booz; secretary, Winston P. Noble; treasurer, Robert W. Cathcart. The subcommittees are: D. R. Lucas, Harry Snyder and John H. Beeber, on orators; Samuel Laing, G. R. Morrison and Albert Schiffling, on music and programme; Joseph H. Bohmie, Winston P. Noble and J. W. Scott, on transportation; John W. Harmon, Amos Haines, William Johnson and James Milam, on flowers; G. H. Shever, S. B. Wyckoff and Henry Seaton, on grounds; I. N. Walker, R. M. Smock and O. R. Weaver, on procuring hall; C. W. Wheat, Z. T. Sanders, Henry Seaton and J. B. Miller, on decorating hall; G. H. Shover, William Tucker and John M. Bohmie, on finance; James E. Twiname, George R. Ellis and John W. Scott, on invitations; Harry Snyder, James Dunn, Amos Haines and J. H. Beeber, on parade and marshal, and D. N. Huey, Louis Kern, John Baker and J. L. Bieler, on artillery and salute. After the announcement it was decided to appoint a special committee on ever-greens, for the reason that the flower committee, which heretofore has handled this feature of decorations, found it too hard work to look after both the flowers and evergreens, Chairman Booz appointed Henry Sweetland, John Williams an Hubbard the evergreen committee. Sweetland, John Williams and John The committee on parade and marshal announced that Gen. Fred Knefler had been selected as the grand marshal. The committee extended an invitation to General Harrison to speak at the night exercises at Tomlinson Hall, but word has since been received from him that his engagements would prevent his accepting the invitation. The exercises for Memorial day will be similar to those of last year, with the exception of the musical programme, which will be changed and a report made at the next meeting. It is stated that perhaps some difficulty will be encountered in securing Tomlinson Hall for the evening exercises, for the reason that a society is after the hall to give a dance there, The finance committee will at once begin to canvass the business portion of the city. At the next meeting, to be held April 6, the reports of all the committees will be

TO EJECT MANY TENANTS.

Constables Will Begin Serving Writs When Warm Weather Sets In.

Filed away in the desks of the justices of the peace are hundreds of writs of ejectment which will be served as soon as the weather makes a permanent change for the better. Most of the writs were placed in the hands of the constables by real-estate agents last fall, but owing to the hard times the writs were not served. The realestate agents who swore out the writs have been investigating the cases and find that many of those behind in rent are shiftless. the thoughts of the great suffering that would undoubtedly befall the children in case of an electment caused the agents to withhold their writs until spring. These worthless characters have been the only ones to profit by the hard times. When the collector went to their homes last fall to get the rent the excuse was given that the family were in danger of starvation. The collector would always report the case to his employers, who had reason to believe that the story was true, as like cases could be located most anywhere. When the weeding of the delinquents occurs those found to be honest and energetic men who are at present having a hard streak of luck will in most cases be allowed to remain for at least a short time at a small percentage of the usual rental

Mrs. Eliza Kitchen Dies Suddenly Under Peculiar Circumstances.

Mrs. Eliza Kitchen, aged forty-four years, residing at No. 1 Henry street, died yesterday afternoon, about 5:30 o'clock, under suspicious circumstances. In the morning she announced at the breakfast table that she would spend the day in visiting some friends, and that possibly she might go to Plainfield. At 9 o'clock she left the house and was not seen again until about 5 o'clock. At that time she was seen to enter her home by several neighbors, who all state that she appeared to be in the best of health at that time. She had been in the house a few moments, when, as James Brown, a next-door neighbor, was passing the door, she called to him. On entering he found her sitting in a chair, drawing her breath heavily and foaming at the mouth. He immediately summoned several neighbors, who undressed Mrs. Kitchen and assisted her to bed. She continued foaming at the mouth, and was dead in Dr. S. E. Crose arrived a few moments after her death, and, after questioning her friends as to the symptoms of her sickness, formed the opinion that death had resulted from a fit. Coroner Beck was summoned, and will investigate this morning. From a hasty inquiry last night as to the woman's sickness, he is of the belief that death resulted from poison.

State Horticultural Society to Hold Its Summer Meeting in Harrison County.

The executive committee of the Indiana State Horticultural Society met yesterday at the agricultural rooms in the Statehouse and decided to hold the summer meeting of the society at New Amsterdam, Harrison county, Wednesday and Thursday, Aug. 22 and 23. Connersville and Richmond were anxious to secure the meeting, and both places offered to furnish halls and entertain the members who attended. The section o the State chosen, however, had never had a meeting of the society, and the people of New Amsterdam offered not only to entertain the members, but also to pay the fares from New Albany and return of all those attending. New Amsterdam is on the river, fifty miles below New Albany, though the distance across the country is only twenty-five miles. The local horticultural society there has fifty members, and more apples are grown in Washington township. Harrison county, than in any other district in the State. Its prominence in this direction was another argument in favor of holding the meeting there. The committee appropriated $200 for premiums for the occasion. The exhibits will be confined largely to apples, pears and grapes, though all small fruits which ripen at the time of the meeting will be eligible for competition. E. Y. Teas, vice president of the society; Colonel Beeler, the treas-urer, both of this county; Secretary Ragan, of Greencastle; Professor Troop, of Purdue; L. B. Custer, of Logansport, and Sylvester Johnson, of Irvington, were pres-ent at yesterday's meeting.
